

Lispr

Speak. Keep working.

Voice dictation and translation at your cursor.

macOS + Windows

Dictation and translation for everyday desktop writing.

Everyday writing is the entry point.

Start with frequent, small writing tasks in the applications people already use.

Messages + replies

Say the response while the conversation is still in your head.

Notes + prompts

Capture a thought, a task or a detailed instruction without changing tools.

Across languages

Speak in the language that comes naturally; insert the translation where it is needed.

Initial audience: people who write frequently and work across languages.

One gesture, in your current workflow.

Desktop applications are available for macOS and Windows.

01

Four priorities guide product and commercial development.

- | | | |
|----|---------------------|---|
| 01 | Retention | Improve activation and track continued use and subscription renewals. |
| 02 | Economics | Track revenue after service costs, partner commissions, refunds and support. |
| 03 | Distribution | Identify repeatable channels through retained customers and acquisition cost. |
| 04 | Reliability | Improve successful insertion and end-to-end latency on macOS and Windows. |

Build the next chapter of everyday voice input.

For investors and distribution partners.
